HORSINGTON NEWS

December 2017

Dear Parents,

Thank you to everyone for their support for our school during the past year.

Well done to all our children for all their hard work and effort. They have developed skills as inquirers, asking questions and researching; as thinkers, thinking things through and making sensible decisions as well as being risk takers, being brave and being willing to try new things. These are all attributes we wish to encourage in our children. As a teaching staff we have been looking at these critical aspects of learning and are promoting these attributes through our teaching and the children's learning through this academic year. These are the bedrock on which the thirst for knowledge and understanding grow.

I wish you and all those you love a peaceful and enjoyable Christmas and every blessing for the coming year.

Mr I Rumbelow
Head Teacher
